

A photograph of a family walking away from the camera through a field of tall, golden-brown grass. In the background, a large, weathered wooden barn stands under a clear blue sky. The scene is bathed in warm, golden light, suggesting late afternoon or early morning. The family consists of a man in a plaid shirt on the left, a woman in a light-colored sweater in the center, and another woman in a light-colored sweater on the right. In the distance, other family members are visible near the barn.
